MR. FREILINGHUYSEN DEAD.

After Many Weeks of Semi-Consciousness, He Gradually Sank, and Expired Yesterday Afternoon.

NEWARK, May 20.—Hon. Frederick T. Freilinghuyssen died at 5:30 this afternoon. Mr. Freilinghuyssen, on the day before the last fall election, returned to his home in this city to vote, and was in a greatly debilitated condition. The malady made rapid inroads on his system, and on March 11, when he reached here, he was driven to his residence very much prostrated. He grew steadily worse, and all efforts for his relief have been only temporary.

Mr. Freilinghuyssen was unconscious all day, and passed away quietly, dying without a struggle.

Mr. Freilinghuyssen was 68 years old. He was the youngest of three men who started to practice law about the same time in Newark, and who have become well known. The other two are Justice of the Peace, and the third is a member of the United States, who has turned 70, and Cortlandt Parker, who holds a high rank at the New Jersey bar, but has never held office.

Mr. Freilinghuyssen had held a number of prominent positions in his own state. He was twice in the United States Senate, and was a member of the National Republican Convention of 1872. He was also a member of the National Republican Convention of 1876.

He succeeded Hon. A. G. Cattell, while serving the latter term he was one of the members of the National Republican Convention of 1876. He was also a member of the National Republican Convention of 1876.

THE TRIAL OF CLIVERIUS.

MISS MADISON WINNER FOR DEATH IN A RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

Important Testimony Elucidated—Harry Curtis, Who Was Suspected as the Murderer of a Simpleton, Lillian, the Murdered Woman's Father as a Witness.

RICHMOND, Va., May 20.—In the Cliverius trial this morning the court ruled that it would exclude the evidence of Mrs. Dickinson and Little Willie Dickinson as to the superintendence on the envelope containing the letter received by Lillian, in which she was asked to come to Richmond, on the ground that the witnesses were not experts. The court also stated that the letter itself could be admitted as testimony, but not as an independent fact apart from the visit to Richmond, and that the contents of the postal card received by Mrs. Dickinson (the wife of the prisoner) should be admitted as evidence.

At this juncture Mrs. Dickinson was recalled. When Lillian brought the letter to the witness, saying there was always something to bother her, and that she had come to Richmond, she gave no other reason for the trip. There was a note inclosed in the letter which Lillian did not show witness. She said the note was from Mr. Curtis, Richmond.

Mr. Curtis testified that he knew Lillian at school in King and Queen county. She saw her in 1883 at the residence of her father, who was then a member of the House of Representatives. He said that he had never seen her since.

The letter before mentioned was shown to the witness, and she testified that it was written by Lillian, but she would not swear to it. She had corresponded with the deceased the year last past.

Harry Curtis, a brother of the last witness, testified that he became acquainted with Lillian Madison at school. He had known her since she was a child, and he had seen her on March 24 last go to St. Louis, but was taken sick and stopped in Baltimore. He came back to Richmond on March 25, and saw her at the residence of her father, who was then a member of the House of Representatives.

He said that he had never seen her since. He said that he had never seen her since. He said that he had never seen her since. He said that he had never seen her since.

tion she ought to be at home. He did not doubt the identity of the lady on island with the body he subsequently met at the almshouse. Upon cross-examination the witness said he approached the couple and passed them at a distance of a step; that he positively identified the prisoner as the man he saw, but could not then had a small mustache. He would describe the dress of either
